

Ximena Bishop 4 Year Council Seat Candidate

Ximena Bishop and her husband moved their family to the west side of Springville in 2015 after they finished their education at BYU. Originally from Argentina, Ximena chose Springville to call home, in part because her husband's family has deep roots in this city. Her love and care for Springville's past and future inspire Ximena's commitment to serving on the Council.

As a mother, a teacher, an active member of her faith, and a community advocate, Ximena sees firsthand the hopes and challenges Springville families face. Her classroom experiences at Springville Junior High have made Ximena a steadfast defender of education and inclusion. Her role in the Springville United Cultural Committee and the creation of the CelebrARTE Latin City Festival have allowed her to facilitate building bridges to unite and strengthen every family and individual in the city. Through responsible leadership, she will bring the same growth, improvement, and insights to the city council that she fosters in her own children and students.

Holdaway Park in Springville represents the legacy her husband's grandparents left behind to the city they loved. Likewise, Ximena desires to continue that tradition and leave a mark through dedicated outreach and service in Springville's City Council.
